Lyle Anderson came down to get my help in celebrating National Ice Cream Week, and inasmuch as he brought the stuff to celebrate with, why should I refuse. He has a fine confection, but I wouldn't tell him so until I had the proof. Lyle has a seance coming up next Saturday with several hundred kids, and I'll bet he'll need police protection. He did take time away from business to tell me that the Elks Mother's Day service was the finest he ever attended, and that Alex Garroway's thought crystallized into the emblem upon which the service was built, and that a lot of Elks were unashamed when they contributed a few tears to the tribute to mother. I'm not agin' Lyle's National Ice Cream Week, but 52 mother's weeks come closer to my heart.

That triumvirate from the courthouse which sent me a dog with a lame leg will have something to explain when I get going again. Dancing the Big Apple around a fire hydrant isn't included in my repertoire.

When I get into the city from the country I am warned there will be a new set-up. The straw hat has taken the place of the fedora. I'll at least look natural. I don't wear a straw hat. Oh, I don't mean I won't. Now what you got to offer?

A midwest tourist who has just arrived home sends word that the first order of business was to build a fire in the furnace. And it naturally follows that the next order of business will be to carry out the ashes. Don't tell me, I put in 50 years in that country. Life begins away before 40 in that land of the freeze and the home of the brave.

Edwin Booth's "Juliet." Miss Louise Muldener has just bid adieu to the earthly balcony, and Booth left the stage years ago. A few "Romans" have been crying ever since. I haven't found any trouble locating "Juliet's." Edwin Booth was a great tragedian. He made his debut in Boston in 1849. By the way, wasn't that the year of the great California gold rush? The biographer gives the name of Helena Modjeska as among his supporting cast, but seems to have overlooked the fact that theatrical audiences supported both of them, and got their money's worth.

Been home long enough to find out something about home. Of course you tired business men who leave shortly after the coffee is served, and go back about time the electricity is turned on do not see very much. The wife even has to call your attention to the bouquet she picked out of her own garden, or point to some change in the arrangement of the furniture. Most husbands' observation is confined to the dinner table, and what's on it. Some changes, however, are made in every home, and not by the occupants. Ever notice how the rugs get cockeyed; how the pictures tip to one side? No, Clarissa, it isn't earthquakes. It's constant vibrations from trucks. There isn't any danger of a rug imposing any penalty because it's out of alignment on the floor, but if a picture jars loose from its anchorage and smacks you on the head. Well, that would be funny to the other fellow.

Jim Tucker slips in and offers evidence of what a caribou did to him. So I mark it exhibit A and will initiate him into the bull family along with the other 'steer hundred who have applied for membership.

Reminiscing with "Tan" Kingery about the old boom days, when real estate could hardly keep acquainted with its own membership. If you bought a piece of property you had it sold at an advance before you got your certificate of title. Naturally, there had to be a place to stop, and lucky was the man who did not stop with a lot of property on his hand. Since those days values have returned to a substantial figure, and if you hold the deed to well selected Orange county land it is about as near safety as anything I know of.

Young Yehudi Menuhin, who plays a violin, is going to marry a girl worth a million. Why didn't he learn to play a cello?

So many special weeks are being offered by proclamation, and otherwise, that something must be done about it. We have more special weeks now set apart than the calendar provides for. Where is the fellow who proposed that 13-month calendar? It could accommodate four more specializations. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

HUGE JAYSEE UNION MAY BE FORMED

President Opposed To 'Streamlining' National Anthem

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Intervention by President Roosevelt to prevent the "streamlining" of the "Star Spangled Banner" was sought in a petition left at the White House today by 10 composers, singers and orchestra leaders.

Led by Kay Kyser of New York, the group protested against the efforts of Vincent Lopez and others to make the national anthem "more singable."

Kyser contended "even a fair voice" could strike the song's high notes.

"We don't want any jittersburgs and swing artists changing this patriotic song," he said. "Let them call it tiger rag or anything else, but don't change it."

WATER HINDERS SEWER REPAIR

Unusually high underground water levels, brought on by the March deluge, are necessitating the use of pumps and well points by WPA engineers repairing section one of the joint outfall sewer line, according to Zone Engineer Harry Honn.

SALVATION ARMY IN ROW

An "unofficial" investigation of Salvation Army policies which allegedly include acceptance of donations from Santa Ana people without "fully informing them" as to how they would be distributed was being pressed here today.

Councilmen Plummer Bruns and Ernest Layton have been investigating Army practices for several months. It was learned, including the alleged policy of gathering materials here and disposing them in Long Beach.

The policies, reported dictated from the territorial office in San Francisco, caused the local advisory board, headed by Mrs. A. G. Flagg, to resign en masse several months ago, after a previous board had resigned for the same reason.

The present investigation is aimed at a decision as to whether or not to cut the Salvation Army from Santa Ana's Community Chest roll.

Fate of Leol E. Ross of Santa Ana, former court reporter here charged with sending obscene matter through the mails, was to be in the hands of a federal court jury late today.

Arguments by Norman W. Neukom, Deputy U. S. district attorney, and by Ross acting as his own counsel in his second trial on similar charges—were heard by the jury in Federal Judge Jenny's court this morning.

J. Clark Sellers, famed handwriting expert who was a key witness in both Hickman and Hauptmann murder trials, testified at length yesterday as the prosecution attempted to link Ross' handwriting with that in letters which two prisoners, already serving terms on similar charges, said they received from the former court reporter who resigned here in January.

Community Oil Lease Decision To Be Appealed

GOP RELIEF FIGHT FAILS

State Handling of Aid Is Suggested

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The house beat out today a Republican attempt to turn the administration of relief over to the states. The standing vote was 106 to 39.

The first amendment to the $3,054,000,000 lending - spending bill, offered by Representative Bacon (R., N. Y.) was the minority proposal for decentralization of relief. It proposed to set up bipartisan boards to handle relief funds and to require states to put up 25 cents for every $1 contributed by the federal government.

Under that arrangement, Bacon said, "more and more relief money would reach the people in actual need."

"By this plan," he said, "we believe we will go a long way toward eliminating politics in relief and relief in politics."

While conceding that perhaps states should have more control over relief, Representative Woodrum (D., Va.) said it would be inadvisable "to change the machinery" in this fashion during a time of "emergency."

Republicans said they would make another report, just before a vote on the passage of the bill, to put their program into the measure.

SCORES SEEK MISSING TOT

PINE KNOT. (AP)—Scores of mountaineers combed the wooded slopes around Big Bear valley early today for a 2-year-old boy, David Baumgarten, who wandered away from a country store about noon yesterday.

As night fell, an Indian tracker led a torchlight procession in hunting the missing child. Sheriff Emmett L. Shay rushed from San Bernardino to take personal charge of the search, bringing with him young David's inseparable companion, a police dog.

The boy and his mother had been accompanying his father, Leon O. Baumgarten of San Bernardino, a food company representative, on a sales trip through the San Bernardino mountains.

During a stop at a store in Big Bear park eight miles east of here, Baumgarten discovered his son was missing and asked help. CCC enrollees and others responded.

Footprints believed to be those of the child were found a mile and a half from the point where he disappeared.

Two March Field army planes, operating from an auxiliary field in Big Bear valley, were ordered to join the search this morning.

Sixty-five men were recruited from distant CCC camps, raising the number in the searching party to nearly 200.

Mountaineers said freezing temperatures during the night were the greatest danger for the lightly clad missing boy.

VARGAS ACTS TO DESTROY FASCISTS

12 Dead Final Toll In Rio Uprising

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil. (AP)—Brazil's strong-man president, Getulio Vargas, invoked full military and police action today to wipe out forever Fascist Green-shirts, whose three and one-half hour rebellion failed because they did not know the government palace was without a garrison within its walls.

Police, with 500 of the rebels already in jail, spread through the city, searched every suspected Fascist's home, made more arrests and found evidence the revolt was well planned but without coordinated execution. They pressed a nationwide search for the fugitive Plinio Salgado, head of the Green-shirt and allegedly the "intellectual leader."

The rebels made their attack yesterday morning against President Vargas' palace, the residence of the chief of staff of the army, and other strategic points—but they lacked the one vital piece of information that could have carried them to at least momentary success.

J. Alberto Lins De Barros, former charge d'affaires who helped defend the president's palace, told about it today.

"I believe the attackers did not know the palace was completely without an internal garrison, otherwise they would have advanced into the palace instead of fighting in the gardens," he said.

"The truth is the president's life was in imminent danger."

Vargas, with his dark-eyed 23-year-old daughter, Donna Alzira, and only five others were inside ready to fight off the attackers from palace windows, but fighting outside apparently convinced the rebels they faced a strong body of defenders. Arriving reinforcements saved the palace and the attackers capitulated.

Vargas, his position as dictator apparently strengthened, invoked martial law to carry on punitive action against the revolt which ended with 12 dead and 22 injured.

The 500-odd already in jail faced military and police court trial within 24 hours, with death sentence. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

tions. Why not have a "cut the weeds week" or "wash the kid's neck week"? It wouldn't be popular but it would give mother something to think about.

I've heard about a "pain in the neck," "a kick in the pants," "a sock on the kisser" and a jolt on that overhanging part of the physiology which sometimes sounds like the horn on a stream-line engine, but I'll take 'em all and endure a few extras in preference to a pain in the leg, especially when the affliction is from a boil or carbuncle, an ulcer, or any of the other related kinsfolk.

Navy Asks Palmyra Island Group For 'Observation Line'

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The navy intends to add to its wartime "line of observation" in the Pacific ocean a few more islands near Canton and Enderbury islands, authoritative persons said today in explanation of a bill pending in the house.

Canton and Enderbury now are claimed by both the United States and Great Britain.

An obscure $25,000 item in a measure which the house naval affairs committee approved yesterday involves purchase by the navy of portions of the tiny Palmyra group, about 1000 miles south of Honolulu, informed persons said.

The projected acquisition fits into the navy's plans for a half circle of islands warning stations about Hawaii.

Palmyra is a group of 30 or 40 islets enclosing a U-shaped lagoon and aggregates less than a square mile of land surface. They are privately owned by American interests. Naval informants said a small portion of the land area for building and radio equipment would serve military purposes.

1000 Search for Missing Tot in Pennsylvania

BRADFORD, Pa. (AP)—Volunteers, answering a call for 1000 able-bodied men, set out today soon after the break of another cold northern Pennsylvania dawn to beat through heavy woods in a final search for little Marjory West.

A reward of $200 for information leading to discovery of the blue-eyed, auburn-haired child "dead or alive" spurred the volunteers to press foot by foot through the wild, heavily-forested country 16 miles south of this oil-producing field.

The Bradford American Legion post 108 offered the reward last night, four days after little Marjory, 4-year-old daughter of an oil field worker, wandered away from a family picnic to pick flowers on a mountainside.

POLES PLAN TEST FLIGHT

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Five Polish airmen planned a test flight to Las Vegas, Nev., today before taking off in their California-built monoplane tomorrow or Saturday on a 16,500-mile jaunt to Warsaw.

By waiting until Saturday, the Poles would be able to follow the regular Pan-American transport to Mexico City and receive full radio facilities on the non-stop, 16,200-mile first leg of their long journey.

The P. A. A. flight leaves at 3:30 a. m. (PST).

BRITISH DUN MEXICO FOR REVOLT LOSSES

LONDON. (AP)—A demand on the Mexican government for immediate payment of 370,962.71 pesos (at current rate of $88,000) for British losses in revolutionary actions between 1910 and 1920 was made public today—a demand in which Britain pointed to "apparently discriminatory treatment" in favor of the United States.

The text of the demand, made under the Anglo-Mexican special claims convention, showed it was presented yesterday in Mexico City by Minister Owen St. Clair O'Malley.

The note pointed out that a similar debt to the United States government had been punctually discharged "and His Majesty's government are at a loss to understand this apparently discriminatory treatment of two governments with equal title."

Britain used the representation again to draw attention to the March 18 expropriation of British oil properties among those of 17 foreign concerns.

The note said Britain "cannot but regard failure of the Mexican government to discharge even their existing obligations as in itself rendering unjustified an expropriation, an essential condition of the validity of which would be payment of full and adequate compensation amounting in this case to a very large sum."

30 KILLED IN REBEL RAID

BARCELONA. (AP)—At least 30 persons were killed and 40 injured today when insurgent warplanes made a swift raid on the center of this capital of government Spain.

The raiders approached with such speed unopposed by the usual anti-aircraft fire that exploding bombs were the first indication in many parts of the city that a raid was in progress.

Streets were jammed with crowds which had no time to take shelter.

Authorities immediately began searches through wrecked buildings for victims.

The raid came at 4 p. m. The city returned to normal within a short time. Anti-aircraft squads had time to fire only a few rounds before the raiders made off.

'Enemy' Lands By Parachute in Mock Air Attack

NEW YORK. (AP)—Thousands of theatrical enemy infantrymen landed by parachute between midnight and dawn today at two points on the Atlantic seaboard as the war game of the general headquarters air force, assigned to guard the United States from invasion, got under way.

Maj. Gen. Frank M. Andrews, commander of the air force and head umpire of the great tactical maneuvers, informed the commanders of his three "wings" that the "blacks"—a mythical coalition of European and Asiatic powers—had gained footholds at Kitty Hawk, N. C., and on an island off Maine, five miles southwest of Boothbay Harbor.

There, he informed his men, the imaginary infantrymen were hard at work establishing landing fields for the hundreds of planes expected to be launched from black aircraft carriers with more troops.

Simultaneously, the fast-striking enemy theoretically bombed the airports at Providence, R. I., and Boston.

COOGAN KIN TO DENY ALL

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Charles J. Katz, attorney for the Arthur L. Bernsteins, said he would file, late today, four separate answers to Jackie Coogan's suit for an accounting of his earnings.

The denials will say, Katz revealed, that there never was $4,000,000, except in Jackie's mind.

He never earned more than $150,000 from his acting and from all other sources.

He never was "kicked out of his mother's and his stepfather's house," as has been charged; he left of his own choice.

His stepfather, Bernstein, neither has nor wants any interest in the money which Jackie claims as his property, but which he has charged Bernstein with using.

PRINCESS IS CHRISTENED

THE HAGUE. (AP)—Baby Princess Beatrix Wilhelmina Armgard who some day may be queen of the Netherlands, cried vigorously throughout her christening today before a brilliant assemblage in the great Church of the Hague.

She began almost as soon as she was brought in by a lady-in-waiting at the opening of the baptismal ritual and she was still crying loudly as she was carried out 10 minutes later in the arms of her mother, Princess Juliana.

Efforts of both Juliana and her father, Prince Bernhard, to quiet her were unavailing. The infant was brought to the church with her parents in a shining, golden coach at the head of a procession witnessed by many thousands.

Jury Ponders Kynette Case

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Testimony intended to link Earle Kynette, suspended police officer, directly with the bombing of Harry Raymond, private sleuth, was pondered today by a superior court jury.

Kynette and two other suspended officers, Roy Allen and Fred Browne, are on trial charged with conspiring to murder Raymond. Raymond was seriously injured when a bomb exploded last Jan. 14 as he stepped on the starter of his automobile.

Defense attorneys denied charges by District Attorney Buron Fitts that the defense had anything to do with warrants issued by Phoenix, Ariz., authorities for the arrest of George Sakalis, star state witness.

HAILE SELASSIE LAYS FIGHT TO BLOCK ETHIOPIAN MOVE

Member-Nations of League Vote to Decide Own Courses in Recognition of Italy

GENEVA. (AP)—The last hopes of Haile Selassie of blocking an Anglo-French move to recognize Italy's conquest of his Ethiopian empire vanished today as a majority of the delegates of the League of Nations council declared in favor of recognition. The council members' judgment late today came after a morning session in which the fallen Ethiopian ruler made a despairing appeal against recognition and demanded that the issue be taken to the whole assembly.

SOLONS NAMED IN QUIZ ON RADIO GRAFT

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Representative McFarlane (D., Texas) told the house rules committee today two former senators, whom he did not name, had received money for "interference with activities" of the justice department in a radio monopoly case at Wilmington, Del., six years ago.

"It has been my thought for some time," McFarlane said, "to present to the house certain information including data in affidavit form which conclusively proves the existence of a criminal conspiracy, which not only defrauded a financial institution, persons holding high public office and also our court officials."

"I have been in doubt as to whether to move impeachment proceedings or await action on the part of this committee."

The statements were made as the rules committee began consideration of five resolutions for investigation of charges of radio monopoly. A senate committee approved yesterday a resolution for an investigation of the federal communications commission.

"The information I refer to," McFarlane said, "concerns the payment of money in cash to elected representatives of the people for interference with the activities of the department of justice and activities which brought about that action on the part of a district court which benefitted officials of this corporation, dependent for its existence on the gratuities which it has received from the government of the United States."

Representative Mapes (R., Mich.) asked what McFarlane meant by "elected representatives of the people."

"They were United States senators," McFarlane replied.

EXHIBITORS HIT 2-BILL SHOWS

NEW YORK. (AP)—New York movie exhibitors who last week criticized film producers for paying huge salaries to stars "who are on the warpath against 'double-feature' programs."

Fifty members of the Independent Theater Owners association, operators of 240 movie houses in the metropolitan area, voted yesterday that the two-picture policy of theater booking is "the root of all evil" in the film industry.

They authorized Harry Brandt, president, to meet an advertisement in the Hollywood Reporter placing blame for "public apathy" toward the movies "right in the lap of the big distributors."

Brandt said the association would launch a determined attack to eliminate twin billing.

Britain Rushing Armament Drive

LONDON. (AP)—The Chamberlain government replied today to bitter charges that its aerial rearmament program was lagging with a promise that Britain would have nearly 3500 first line warplanes by March, 1940.

This would double the previous objective of 1750 first line planes by March, 1939.

Rapp Indicted For FDR Note

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Keith H. Rapp was under indictment today on a charge of sending a threatening letter to President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Rapp, who was arrested recently in Memphis, Tenn., will be arraigned Monday. Bond was fixed at $10,000.

DEPORTATION OF UNDESIRABLE ALIENS ASKED BY WAR VETERANS

Action Would Solve Unemployment, Relief Problems, Says Resolution

FEDERAL FLOOD LOANS TOTAL $13,480 HERE

The Federal Disaster Loan corporation has approved 15 of the 66 applications for loans submitted by Orange county firms or individuals suffering losses from the March flood. Only three applicants have been refused assistance.

The fifteen loans granted aggregate $13,480. Others asked, which are being examined, total nearly $80,000. Most persons seeking assistance request the use of government money over a five to 10 year period. An unusually low interest rate is charged, according to S. L. Rodgers, loan corporation field representative. Twelve new applications were left last week with the corporation at its new headquarters in the Esplanade building, Fifth and Sycamore streets.

Breakfast Club Plans Anniversary

Plans for an elaborate program celebrating the Breakfast club's 11th anniversary next Thursday were discussed at this morning's meeting in the Main cafeteria, and a three-man committee of Bob Andrews, Ed Cochems and J. D. Lowe was appointed to complete arrangements.

Hunter Leach officiated at this morning's meeting, which was featured by several tap dancing and saxophone numbers by Les Phillips and his son, Jack, accompanied by Miss Esther Shields.

Next week's meeting will be open to ladies and guests.

the Episcopal Church of Orange, officiating. Interment will be in Fairhaven cemetery.

CHAIKIN—Funeral services for Isabelle Chaike, who died Tuesday, will be held at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow from the Spanish Methodist church at First and Garfield streets. Interment will be in Santa Ana cemetery, with Brown and Wagner in charge.

LUCY—Funeral services for Horace Lucy will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. from McAulay and Suter's funeral parlor in Fullerton, with interment following in Loma Vista cemetery.

A resolution asking legislation to deport all undesirable aliens was adopted by the Orange county council of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at its annual election meeting in Orange last night, during which James Sullivan, Santa Ana, was named commander for the coming year.

The veterans agreed that stringent legislation to deport aliens who are here illegally and those who have proven themselves "undesirable" would largely solve the unemployment, crime and relief situations. The resolution will be forwarded to congress, the state legislature and the county supervisors.

Other officers elected are Dan Russell, Anaheim, senior vice commander; George E. Hubbard, Santa Ana, junior vice commander; Charles Grove, Orange, chaplain; George Miller, Anaheim, quartermaster; J. R. McKeon, Santa Ana, adjutant; V. P. Mallin, officer of the day, and L. N. Weisser, Anaheim, guard. Roy Wolfe of Corona was installing officer.

Ben Lieberman, chairman, and Charles J. Liemer, Jr., secretary of the county disaster relief commission, asked the council's support in disaster relief co-ordination. The council later adopted a resolution for presentation at the department encampment in San Jose next month asking for the appointment of a full-time assistant to Hugh Harold, national liaison officer at the Sawtelle facility.

Art, Pigeons Rouse Police Suspicion

A crate of pigeons, an "artist's temperament" and a car registered to the wrong party made police suspicious last night—but it all turned out right today.

Floyd Bell, young Beaumont artist, parked his car, with a crate of pigeons on top, at a local malt shop yesterday, then moved on to Nineteenth and Main streets, where he parked and slept last night.

Police learned the car was registered to a Carl Bywater, Beaumont, and they checked up with Beaumont police. Bell's story that he was an artist and had purchased the car from Bywater was corroborated, and he was allowed to proceed to Long Beach.

Sewer Rental Fee For Hospital to Be Fixed By Board

The joint outfall sewer district board last night appointed a committee to fix a rental fee from the Orange county hospital for the privilege of using the sewage line henceforth.

The committee includes City Attorney Gordon X. Richmond of Orange and City Attorney Lew Blodgett of Santa Ana. One of the baffling problems this group must settle is the proportionate amount of the rental each member city should receive. Hospital sewage runs through a line exclusively owned by Orange, thence to the outfall pipe owned by communities interested in section two of the system, and finally to a line operated by all cities in the district.

J. C. DEAN WINS OUSTER FIGHT

Raising issues of discipline, leadership and scholarship standing of Fullerton District Junior college, two members of the school board lost a fight to oust W. T. Boyce as dean of the institution Tuesday night.

Harold Hale, chairman, and Mrs. Sidney Chapman, sponsored the move to oust Boyce, longtime dean of the Fullerton institution. Opposing them were John Schiller, Claude Ridgway and L. B. Stevander and Superintendent Louis E. Plummer.

Court Collects $51 In Traffic Fines

Four speeders and eight overtime parkers paid fines in Santa Ana police court yesterday, as Judge J. G. Mitchell collected $51 from assorted traffic offenders.

Speeding cases included Courtney B. Vail, Fullerton, $15; Bert Patterson, Anaheim, $8; Delbert C. Donaldson, Long Beach, $6, and Robert Wayne Luxembourg, Santa Ana, $6. Kenneth Adams, Santa Ana, paid $3 for three of 11 parking tickets, and R. M. Eberts, Los Angeles, paid $5 for traveling in a center lane without leaving sufficient clearance for passing cars.

Santa Ana Business Firms Donate Horse Show Awards

Assisting Mrs. West and Mrs. Flagg are Mrs. Edward M. Hall, Mrs. John P. Scripps, Mrs. George Briggs and Mrs. Howard Timmons.

Coming J. C. Fiesta Eleventh In Series Held By Students

Bob Reif and Marjorie Kenyon, elected this week as Don and Dona of the Junior college fiesta May 20, will be 11th in a series of "royal" couples to rule the traditional event.

The colorful fiesta was inaugurated in 1928 and each year has drawn hundreds of high school students and older citizens to the college campus, spotted with booths, entertainment, colorful costumes and music.

Following is the parade of Dons and Donas: Pete Lehr and Flora Greenow reigned in 1928, Baxter Geeling and Margaret Cianfoni in 1929 and Abbott Mason and Mary McHenry in 1930.

George Griffith and Marybelle Ball received the honor in 1931, Charles Stehly and Ione De Remer in 1932, Gene Hall and Helen Bowler in 1933, Glenn Bishop and Harriett Abrams in 1934, and Vernon Mansur and Agnes De Busk in 1935.

In 1936 John Ramirez and Lois Murray represented the "typical Spanish couple." Last year Al Titensor and Margaret Crowell held the position.

ORANGE SIZE RANGE LARGE

Biggest valencia oranges since 1930 were reported today by Association laboratory, Anaheim.

Today only 218 average oranges will squeeze into a box, if they're picked from the outside of a tree; and 211 will fit in a box, if they come from the inside. That's the smallest number per box for the past eight years, the laboratory's figures showed. In 1930 the fruit count per box was 201 outside and 211 inside.

Growth rate for April, though more rapid than that of 1937, the laboratory said, is less rapid than the 13-year average.

Sizes are five oranges per box larger for outside fruits and eight oranges per box larger for inside fruits than the average, the survey showed.

Farm Officials Set For Annual Parley

Efforts to promote uniformity in methods and close cooperative relationship with governmental agencies will be the keynote of the annual convention of county agricultural commissioners in Santa Barbara May 18, 19 and 20.

The grapefruit was brought to Florida by the Spaniards in the 16th century.

Builder Sues to Collect for House

Suit to collect $683 assertedly still due on a new house was filed today in superior court by Nylin P. Hurd, builder, against Mrs. Lena McMillen.

Hurd alleges the defendant has refused to pay him the balance on a Santa Ana house he built for her at total price of $3403. He asks the judgment against her for the balance and sale of the property to collect his claim.

Brick Dust

RAMBLING
COUNTY
T. N.
(BRICK)
GAINES

Strange thing.
My friend Mayor Dan Mulherron from Santa Clemente announced yesterday he was going to attempt to become a supervisor.
A few days before that Elmer Hughes of Seal Beach intimated he was going to run for election to the county board in his district. Already, in that same area, Willis Warner of Huntington Beach announced his candidacy.
What is this, a mayor's race, or something?

Pepito, known the world over as a clown, pops up to Santa Ana from Santa Island, where he has a new home.
Pepito and Mrs. Pepito were shopping for matted milk when I saw 'em.

He's just finished working in another moon picture. Getting famous all the time, that Pepito. But he was more excited because he's overhauling his famous sword-fishing boat "Marlin."

However, to me Pepito is still the fellow who knows better than anyone, even Harbor Master Tommy Bouchey, how to cook lobsters!

I'm mad. About a story Editor Verner Beck ran in his Laguna paper concerning grunion, in which the writer intimated there aren't any such animal as our little finny friend. That a "hunt" for 'em ranks along with a similar expedition for snipes.
Before I swipe the story, I'm going to deny all. There is such a thing as grunion, although there might as well not be, on account of the season's closed on the nights they run.

This month they'll run on the 16th, 17th and 18th, at exactly 9:47, 10:21 and 11 p. m., without fail. That's a promise. But remember I warned you the season's closed on the little rascals—during April, May and June.

Now, here's what Editor Beck's grunion expert had to say about the muchly-persecuted fishes:
This is the grunion season again. Once a year the little silvery fish come up on shore to lay their eggs. It is called "grunioning." Morton Thompson, old-time grunion hunter, explains.

Grunion are to Southern California what snipe are to the east coast. There really are snipe and there really are grunion, but snipe hunts and grunion hunts are the nation's prize practical jokes. Anybody who has ever held a bag on a snipe hunt knows exactly what it feels like to hold both palms outstretched in a grunion hunt.

Usually grunion don't run. The papers say they are due to run and sports authorities say they positively will run and the father grunion look speculatively at their fraud and say, yes, they're about due to run.

At this point mama grunion pulls a Coochie.
"Nobody," says Grunioner Thompson, "knows what makes women grunion so contrary. Everybody knows, however, that the minute you turn your back on a grunion and say the hell with it and start to go home, then the grunion will rush for the beach. So nobody ever goes home."

EXHILARATING SPORT
When the grunion are actually caught in their grunioning, there are few sports so exhilarating as their capture.

"Grunion average about five inches long," explains expert Thompson. "They swim around in the sea all year until all of a sudden they get bored. At least that is the way I have grunioned it out and it is nice to give them the benefit of the doubt. Then they decide they ought to have children."

"Well, a breaker throws the lady grunion high and dry on the beach where she lays a thousand or two eggs. Then the next breaker carries her back into the sea, at the same time burying her nest under a ton or so of sand."

"Sporting people won't catch grunion until the eggs are laid," Thompson insists. "It is against the law to use a net to catch them; must be done by bare hands."

"However, it is always advisable on a grunion hunt to take along a can of sardines."

Club's Picnic Closes Year

CIVIC DINNER PLANNED AT GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE.—A community dinner, June 14, in which all organizations and clubs will be invited to participate, was planned by the chamber of commerce at a meeting Tuesday evening when Postmaster Clair Head, Allen Goddard and C. K. Simpson were named as a committee on arrangements.

E. R. Schneider was delegated to insure the attendance of all of the merchants and Irvine German was appointed to arrange a musical program.

The chamber also planned to assist all organizations here in planning major events at which a large attendance is desired by providing a master calendar on which all such future events will be marked. The calendar, to be kept by the chamber secretary, will be posted in a public place.

Further development of the park was reported by L. F. German, who said that additions are now being made to the sprinkling system and as soon as completed more lawn will be planted. Continued development is planned as soon as more funds are available. L. L. Doig reported that picnic tables and benches provided by the Lions club and being made in the high school shop are nearly completed and will be available for use soon.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This column deals with Townsend news and views. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

Dr. Charles E. Hill, Southern California coordinator for the Townsend movement, who introduced Dr. Francis E. Townsend in the Santa Ana Townsend meeting held Sunday, demonstrated something of his capability and force in the short speech he made previous to introducing the doctor.

He got a great hand when he received the almost unanimous support from the elderly of the nation because of its endorsement of the American form of government and the effort which the Townsend organization was continuously giving to the maintenance of such principles.

Touching on political attitudes to be assumed by the Townsend movement in the coming campaign, Dr. Hill said that neither the Republicans or Democrats can elect a congressman from this district without the help of the Townsends. Neither will get our support, he said, unless they nominate men who will work and fight for the Townsend plan in congress. "This time we will know," said Dr. Hill, "that the candidates we will elect are going to serve the people."

"And don't you think for a moment that we are not going to have the say so as to whom is going to be elected, for we will. We have the balance of power vote and we are going to use it as we will prove. I'll tell you how we are going to do it," said Dr. Hill. "We are going to establish the Townsend party. Go down to the county clerk's office and help establish the Townsend party by changing your party affiliation at once," urged the Southern California coordinator.

Newport Beach club No. 1 is meeting in the city hall at 7:30 this evening. Walter R. Robb of Santa Ana will address the group on the subject, "Townsend Movement Victories."

Contrary to the statements in Wednesday's column the Old Maid's convention will not be put on by Santa Ana Club No. 9 until May 19th. All Townsends take notice.

The Huntington Beach Club No. 1 is meeting tonight in the home of A. D. Marshall at 415 Sixth street instead of the Memorial hall as announced yesterday. Further more A. M. Maps will not speak until a week from tonight. Tonight's session is only a business meeting.

Fullerton club No. 1 will be the guests of Anaheim club No. 1 which meets at 7:30 tonight in the Townsend club building at 210 South Clementine street. Ida A. Freeman, Anaheim club president, and Ota A. Everett of the Fullerton club will share honors in presiding tonight and the other club officers will also officiate together in the meeting.

Santa Ana club No. 7 is meeting at 7:30 tomorrow evening in the Roosevelt school on East First street. George Lounsbury, president, will preside and urges that all members be present to participate in certain business matters to be discussed.

All Townsend clubs should vigorously push the sale of tickets to the opening day of the big Los Angeles Townsend national convention when it is desired and expected that more than 100,000 people will be assembled together. The tickets can be obtained from Los Angeles Townsend headquarters at 855 South Figueroa street.

And what agreement hath the temple of God with idols? for ye are the temple of the living God; as God hath said, I will dwell in them and walk in them and I will be their God, and they shall be my people. . . . and I will receive you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty."

Guests Are Entertained At New Home

Mrs. Allan V. Elston entertained a group of friends at a luncheon bridge party at her lovely new home on North Flower street yesterday afternoon. Guests were seated at two small tables in adjoining rooms which were decorated in contrasting color schemes and theme.

The dining room was transformed into a tropical setting with copper and red as predominating colors, and decorations were many of the things brought back from the south seas by the Elstons. The living room was decorated in a pink color scheme with large bouquets of spring flowers about the room. Mrs. B. M. Terhune, Mrs. Fred Newcom, Mrs. Cassius Paul and Mrs. W. E. Chastain, mother of Mrs. Elston, assisted her during the afternoon. Eugene Robinson sent the lovely flowers.

Mrs. B. M. Terhune won first prize at bridge and Mrs. Kenneth Sutherland was awarded second prize. Present for the delightful afternoon were the Mesdames Eugene Robinson, Loren Moore, J. H. Bower, A. Year After Year Many Ask How to Climb Out of Mental Rut

Life is an interesting mystery. If it's not interesting, the fault lies on us. We do not make the effort to unravel the seemingly untangle skeins. We tread over the bright, many-colored warp and woof with our restless pacing until we've worn the surface to drabness.

Of all the questions asked me every way I can think of, but still the question continues to be fired at me. It bobs up again today from a woman of 38 who signs herself "Edna." She's just bored with everybody and everything.

Sometimes this mental state is brought on by a physical state, most probably a torpid liver. A simple diet, plenty of citrus fruits, exercise in the fresh air and regular sleep will correct the disorder.

If it is purely a mental state we can almost always trace the fault to selfishness of the individual afflicted. Of course, nine times out of 10 the person is ignorant of this fact. Let us analyze this state of boredom. Isn't it lack of interest in life, in people, which makes us expect to get more out of life if we put into it? Isn't that selfishness?

Isn't that why we lead such narrow lives and why we get so little joy from our daily association with people? We are downright stingy with ourselves and that is a form of selfishness. If we weren't, we would discard the screens we hide behind and let people know us as we really are screens that we like to call Dignity, Modesty or Sophistication. We would contribute ideas to conversation instead of throwing in a few words or taking no part at all.

We would give our attention to others' talk without reserving one corner of our minds for thinking up our next remark, or for thinking about something else entirely. Our first impulse would be to share our amusing experiences, our interesting discoveries with other people, instead of giving

DOMESTIC CLUB MEETS TO SEW

Domestic Arts club members met at the home of Mrs. W. E. Dixon Tuesday afternoon for a delicious luncheon at a table centered with primroses. A pink and white color scheme was carried out in table decorations, and bouquets of roses were about the house.

The guests spent the afternoon in needlework. Present were the Mesdames Fleetwood Bell, Thomas Williams, Charles L. Johnson, T. P. Kingrey, H. W. Leeding, W. B. Martin, J. C. Sexton, E. G. Summers, C. F. Skirvin, C. J. Skirvin, M. B. Williams and the hostess.

NEIGHBORS FETE HOPKINS FAMILY

The fact that Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hopkins are moving away from their neighborhood inspired residents of Riverside street and its vicinity to fete them with a gay surprise party.

Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins and their children have long been prominent in neighborhood affairs and their departure will create a real gap in pleasant activities in the farewell event, with its appropriate gift tokens, were Mr. and Mrs. John Geiger and Patricia Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Orin Barnes, Mrs. K. S. Kettle, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Meyers and Sharon, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hall and Ruth Ann and Donna Lou, Mrs. C. F. Crose, and the Hopkinses with Ruth and Harvey.

them only the gloomy story of our small misfortunes and petty grudges.

We would not call time wasted that was spent in talk or in getting to know another human being. Being a little careless of the time we give others is one way of being generous with ourselves and warding off boredom.

Yes, boredom is a form of selfishness—egoism. When we say, "Oh, that person bores me, or this status or strata of society" it is because we've only scratched the surface of life.

Saturday Bride-Elect Is Feted

Mrs. John W. Gould and Mrs. Cornelius Neuschwanger were co-hostesses yesterday at a pretty shower for Miss Geraldine Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cole, who is to marry Mrs. Douglas of San Francisco this coming Saturday at the lovely Mission Inn of Riverside.

When guests arrived they found small tables in the Gould home on Ritchey street centered with dainty pink and white primroses, matching table linens, and a pink ice-clipper at each place.

Later hearts was played, with table prizes going to Mrs. Ernest Wakeham, Mrs. Roy Ivins, Mrs. Fred Cole, and Miss Geraldine Cole, who found herself doubly fortunate when Mrs. Robert Collier presented her with her prize, a Madeira towel.

In one corner of the rose-filled room was erected a wishing well, and each guest had the pleasant duty of depositing therein a wish for Miss Cole, as well as a pretty wrapped gift. The shower was of the bride-elect's chosen pattern in Spode.

Guests at the affair were Mrs. Johanna Cole, Mrs. Fred Cole, Miss Geraldine Cole, Mrs. Ernest Wakeham, Mrs. Roy Ivins, Mrs. Harry Ball, Mrs. Walter Cook, Mrs. J. E. Prentice, Mrs. Edward Baird, Mrs. E. A. Davidson, Mrs. Clyde Deardorff, Mrs. W. M. Rausseum, Mrs. Julian Lecrevain, Mrs. Lulu Crawford, Mrs. Albert Paine of Balboa, Mrs. Robert Collier of San Juan Capistrano, Miss Winifred Ball, Miss Blanche Ivins, Miss Ida May, Miss Phyllis Dietrich, Mrs. Charles Snow, Mrs. Paul Adamson, and Mrs. O. Rowland, mayor of the city of Santa Ana, do hereby designate the week of May 15-21 as Air Mail week for all Santa Ana, and do call upon our people to make proper observance of this week by liberally patronizing the air mail and otherwise evidencing their appreciation of the efforts of the Postoffice Department to provide this necessary service for our state.

FLOOD PROJECT TO GET ACTION

WASHINGTON. (AP)—A five-year plan of flood control went to congress today with leaders planning to ask initial appropriations next year to carry it out.

As drafted by the House Flood Control committee, the bill would authorize projects to cost $375,000,000 during the five fiscal years it to appropriate money, preceding June 30, 1944.

The committee, lacking authority, prepared the program on the basis of recommendations by the army engineers. Appropriations can be proposed only by the appropriations committee which already has made its flood control recommendations for the 1939 fiscal year.

Those recommendations, approved by congress, provided $118,000,000 for flood control projects previously authorized.

J. B. and Henry Plou of Anaheim today had judgment for $173.90 damages to their car against four Japanese, who sued unsuccessfully for $10,000.

A jury in Judge James L. Allen's court deliberated an hour and 20 minutes late yesterday before deciding the case, which arose out of an auto crash at Lemon and Cypress streets, Anaheim, last May 21.

Suit was filed by Mrs. T. Koishi, her daughter, Shizue, 3, her husband, G. Koishi, and S. Nakamura, driver against the Plous for total damages of $10,000, charging the Plous were at fault. The jury found Nakamura caused the crash, however, and gave the Plous judgment on their cross complaint.

Centering upon Earl Fraser's brilliant performance of the second Brahms concerto, the Federal symphony, under the direction of Leon Eckles, was again heard in concert at the high school auditorium last night.

Fraser's interpretation of the Brahms concerto was sympathetic and discerning. A brilliant, intricate work for piano with orchestra, it met with the enthusiastic approval of the audience.

The orchestra opened the program with the overture to Mozart's "Magic Flute," following with the Fraser performance.

Mendelssohn's fourth (the Italian) symphony comprised the second half of the program. Conductor Eckles appeared to better advantage in this.

He told Smith he would return immediately with the money. He hasn't shown up.

Love in Disguise

Peggy O'Toole, Irish-American girl, after breaking her engagement to George "Jimmie" Meredith, is badly injured in an accident. The doctors say she may never walk again. Jimmie begs her to renew their engagement, but she thinks his proposal is prompted by pity, so she refuses him. Her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. O'Toole, hear of her refusal to let him take her to Montmartre and over the protests of her companion, Miss Tucker, sweeps her up in his arms and carries her away. She has a marvelous time but when Paul brings her back to her hotel, she finds that her grandfather, badly worried, has had the police searching for her.

CHAPTER XXIV
"BUT, Peggy darling, I don't understand at all," Mrs. Greer said reproachfully. It was the morning following Peggy's escapade with Lieutenant Paul Rimini. "I can scarcely believe that my granddaughter would let herself be a common pick-up—but Miss Tucker says that, the other day in the park—"

"Oh hang Turkey!" Peggy said, almost crossly. "What difference does it make how we met, Granny? He's so nice—I know you'll like him when you meet him."

"I've told you—an officer in the Italian air corps, on leave."

"I know—but what is his background? Where does he come from? Who are his family? You say 'Oh hang Turkey!'"

Peggy sighed. "I know that he's a gentleman. That's plain—regardless of his background, whatever it may be."

Mrs. Greer shook her head skeptically. "Officer on leave," she murmured. "In Paris for a good time—say reckless."

Just then, a trim maid entered the room. "Lieutenant Rimini to see Mademoiselle," she announced. "Mademoiselle is not in. Marie," Mrs. Greer said at once.

Peggy made a gesture of protest, but her grandmother was firm.

"He may be nice, and all that you say—but before I shall allow him to call, he must be introduced in the proper way! Remember that Italian girls are bound by rules of strict decorum, to which even a gay young blade like this Lieutenant Rimini must bow. He must not be permitted to think that just because you come from America he can utterly disregard the conventions!"

Peggy protested further, but to no avail.

THAT afternoon, as Miss Tucker wheeled Peggy towards their favorite spot in the park they simultaneously caught sight of Paul strolling back and forth apparently waiting for them. Just then, he looked up and saw them.

Miss Tucker made an abrupt right-about turn and started back in the direction from which they had come.

"Oh, lucky!" Peggy protested. "I have my orders from your grandmother!" Miss Tucker said firmly. "We'll just walk around a bit and come back later after he

"Oh, she's a sly one!" Mr. Greer chuckled. "She isn't telling every thing she knows!"

"But I—I didn't know it myself," Peggy stammered.

At that moment the maid appeared.

"Lieutenant Paul Rimini calling Madam!" She looked doubtfully at her mistress.

"All means, Marie!" Mrs. Greer exclaimed, looking very flustered.

Top-Hat & Petti-Coat

BY MAXINE STOREY

We've tried to be nonchalant about this debut of the sun but we can't—it's all too wonderful to pass by lightly.

If you're as sun conscious as I am . . . your mind will be on the beach and though your feet may be treading the same old ground and your hands preparing salads and vegetables and what-not, your eyes will be dreamily focused on that new flower bed in the garden.

If you give in and chuck all good intentions aside to breeze down to the beach, do make your first appearance in smart spotless beach togs. You need only look around a bit to find all sorts of attractive built-up sandals, gay cotton bathing suits that do amazing things to your figure, and peasant dresses or slacks suits that make you feel young and perky.

Remember though, that the key-note for summer fashions this year is brightness. Reds, blues, greens, and yellows are the thing.

While gadding about during the last week poking into every shop on every boulevard, I discovered all sorts of things that made me wonder just how this new column I'm writing for you shoppers is going to benefit me. You see I started out by trying to acquaint myself with your merchants and for date I've bought two print dresses—a book about sailing—a pottery piece—bags and bags of candies—and a table cloth for the patio. I'm likely to fall for a diamond any minute and then look out—I'll be passing a hat or mortgaging my type-writer.

But to get back to the weather and clothes and the difference between just looking nice—and being smart and attractive.

Do—by all means strive for nonchalance in your summer wardrobe. Look casual yet neat . . . look perfectly at ease yet manage to be two jumps ahead of the crowd in blue. Nothing is more alluring than a poised lassie in a beach outfit that seems to have been created just for her. Always choose the ensemble that you simply couldn't live without for that is the one that nine times out of ten is the best suited to your personality.

Of course I learned it all in books but I had to do something in my spare time. Seriously, if you'll glance around for yourself, I'm sure you'll agree with the books . . . and me.

Well it's time to say hello. I should have done that at first I guess. But I'm so much more anxious to talk about YOU . . . and to discuss anything you are interested in.

Won't you drop me a line at the Journal office . . . or better still, saunter in between buying and tell me what you like to read about or ask me where to shop. I'll try to help you!

NO MODERN HOME
IS COMPLETE without a modern piano in that vacant corner of the living room. The adorable Spinettes at D. ANZ-SCHMIDT, 520 N. Main street (phone 1828) make your hands fairly itch to play the beautiful keys. The Spinettes are just what you need. They are in all colors . . . black, maple, white, red or mahogany and what lovely shades!

If you appreciate fine musical instruments and like to know that your piano is the finest, you should stop in and chat with MR. DANZ for he has studied music for years, written many art books, and travelled throughout Europe to compose music!

He'll be happy to discuss music with you and show you his Spinettes. Once you see these dainty pianos and touch the key-board, you'll be planning to accent your living room with a Spinette immediately.

IT'S TIME TO CHECK
OVER your summer wardrobe! Maybe it's a bit worn . . . and your favorite white suit of last year is an utter disappointment. Why not take it to the WASHINGTON CLEANERS AND DYERS, 1106 North Main street, and let them make it look crisp and new?

If your problem is one of color . . . I suggest you have two or three of last year's frocks dyed . . . nothing is lovelier than soft pastel shades and the WASHINGTON CLEANERS can work miracles!

You'll want that flattering white coat looking clean and fresh for the trip to the beach this week-end and the new cleaning process used by the WASHINGTON CLEANERS will make your coat so soft and newish that you won't know it.

I DIDN'T KNOW
JUST HOW interesting a feed store could be until I sauntered into LESLIE MITCHELL'S SEED AND FEED STORE at 305 E. Fourth street the other day.

HEROISM OF LAGUNA YOUTH BRINGS HIGH NAVY VALOR HONORS

I Just Found OutAbout
Stages
To Beach—By—
MILLARD
BROWNE

Whether it's dollar day in Santa Ana, an art carnival in Laguna, Tournament of Lights at Balboa—or even a scarecrow contest in Costa Mesa—any civic undertaking between here and Laguna can count on warm support from at least two local young businessmen.

They're R. P. Kellogg and C. P. Rhinard and they run the Laguna Beach-Santa Ana stage lines. Which means they do big business when large groups of shoppers or joy-seekers converge on any towns along the run, because a certain percentage, even these days, are without cars.

They carry a year-around average of 100 passengers a day, travel 100,000 miles a year just to and from Laguna. The two partners bought the line from Motor Transit four years ago, have installed lighter, faster equipment that costs 7½ cents a mile to run, gets 10½ miles to the gallon of gas.

Major reason for the stage line's existence is that it's the only commercial carrier plying directly between here and Laguna. Through stages either follow 101 highway, come in at the Serra underpass, down below, or they follow the coast highway and go on up to Long Beach instead of Santa Ana.

Since Kellogg and Rhinard have the U. S. mail contract, handle 100 sacks a mail a day, including the majority of the eastern mail to the coast area, the schedule (four round trips a day to Laguna, eight to Balboa) complies with mail schedules, would be changed slightly if someone else were to get next year's postal contract.

Summer naturally is busiest time of year, and 8 to 10 a. m. and 3 to 6 p. m. are the heaviest hours each day for the bus drivers, since majority of the customers are shoppers or commuting workmen.

Some of the clients are just joy-riders, though. Once or twice a day, someone will climb onto the stage just to make the round and see the county's coast area. Typical were two young women from New York who rode three days in a row, stopped at Laguna one day, Balboa the next and Newport the third in order to see the sights.

One grey-bearded old gentleman dropped around to the Santa Ana terminal the other day, began chatting with Rhinard. The man, it developed, lived around Laguna 20 years ago, had never been back, although he'd resided in Santa Ana ever since. He rode on the stage every day for a week, stopped off en route to see how things had changed. "Last time I was down in Laguna was in a horse and buggy," he confided.

Kellogg, full-time driver, and Rhinard, who drives part time and handles the office work, have to be regular tourist guides to cope with the stream of questions they often get on their daily runs. They also have to cope with a bit of back-seat driving, "but not nearly as much as there was a few years ago."

Regular run is from Santa Ana to Balboa, across the ferry to Balboa island and on to Laguna Beach. Once a day, though, the stage backtracks from Balboa to Newport and along the bayshore district. That's to maintain the state franchise on the bayshore area in event it ever builds up enough to tempt competition.

Though it takes only three minutes, the backtracking draws more complaints from speed-conscious customers than anything else. The bus ordinarily takes 15 minutes to get from Santa Ana to Costa Mesa, 20 minutes to Newport, 25 to Balboa and 50 to Laguna. Top speed (governed) is 50 miles an hour, average speed on the open road about 45.

Outgoing schedules always run on time, because a spare stage is handy if the incoming one is late. Tardiest an incoming bus has been 30 minutes, cause being an axle which broke out in the "wide-open spaces" south of Corona Del Mar.

Dollar days and special Santa Ana shopping attractions make a rush business for the stage line (particularly if they come right after paydays on the first or 15th of a month). The buses are never loaded (capacity 20) for every run during the day, two cars frequent-

YOUNG SAILOR
RESCUES SIX
FROM WAVESCourage Commended
By Navy Officials

Credited with displaying unusual bravery at sea, when he rescued a total of six persons, Don W. Brown of Laguna Beach has been recommended for highest U. S. navy valor honors by naval officials, it was announced here today.

Brown, who is a quartermaster, third class, in the navy, probably will receive a Carnegie medal, as well as navy honors. He is the son of Mrs. Dorothy Brown of Laguna canyon, Laguna telephone office employee.

Young Brown's first feat of bravery occurred aboard the U. S. S. Truxton last March 20 while the ship was engaged in maneuvers. He observed another seaman fall overboard from the U. S. S. McCormick. While a small boat from the ship was putting out to rescue the seaman, Brown saw him go under several times, so dived off the bridge of the Truxton, swam to the drowning man and held him up until aid arrived.

The Laguna youth's commanding officer, Lieut. Commr. S. S. Reynolds, highly commended the courage and recommended award of highest naval honors and the treasury department's life saving medal for the act.

Brown again entered the navy's annals as a hero on April 2, while his ship was stationed in the Hawaiian islands. A small boat from another ship, returning to shore with a number of passengers, ran aground on a shoal a short distance from shore. A large wave hit the launch, sweeping one member of the crew overboard, and Brown swam to his rescue.

At the same time another occupant of the small boat started after his companion, but soon was exhausted in the heavy sea. Brown, carrying a rope, rescued the pair who were dragged ashore.

In the meantime, three more men on the stranded launch had started to shore, but were soon overcome by strong currents. Noting their cries for help, the Laguna youth swam to the boat, dragged the trio back aboard, started the motor and saved the tiny craft from smashing against another reef.

Award of other medals was recommended by his commanding officer following this courageous feat.

SOUL THOUGHTS

If I could write a piece of music That would express God's love for me, It would be more beautiful than Anything ever written or could be. I've always tried to serve Him In a bright and joyous way, He has turned my darkest hours Into dreams of everlasting day.

I've always been a dreamer But could not squander time, In the old days that were so busy There was no time for rhyme. So late in life I'm taking it The precious hours to think, Some helpful thoughts for others In a chain of golden links.

The days are all too short now For the work I'd wish to do, Before entering into the new life To grow in wisdom wise and true. For oh! It has been promised, To all the faithful in this life, There'll be only peace and beauty No more war and discord strife.

BOULDER DAMS
LOT OF WATER

The reclamation bureau has estimated there is enough water in the reservoir behind Boulder dam to cover Massachusetts and Connecticut to a depth of two feet.

Officials said the spring runoff had brought the storage behind the giant dam on the Colorado river to 16,000,000 acre feet, or enough to cover 16,000,000 acres with one foot of water.

The reservoir, which has been catching surplus Colorado river water since February, 1935, has a capacity of 30,500,000 acre feet. The lake formed by the dam is now 109 miles long and covers 93,150 acres.

800 GADGETS
PATENTED IN WEEK'S TIME

(Copyright, 1938, by Science Service)

WASHINGTON.—The seemingly never-ending stream of inventions was swelled by 800 on which patents were granted here by the U. S. Patent office past week.

Ten among them, selected by Science Service, were especially noteworthy for the ingenious twist they supply to the solution of troublesome minor problems, old and new.

A light to light the swimmer's way and incidentally to tell approaching boatmen that there's something there was patented by William J. Orland of Seattle, Wash. Covered by Patent No. 2,115,744, the swimmer's light is flashed on by contact with the water.

A combination cocktail shaker and glass cooler that is motor driven won Patent No. 2,115,753 for Henry W. Talbot of San Francisco.

Samuel Jay of New York City received Patent No. 2,115,928 for a mechanical egg poacher. It can handle, in the model shown in the patent, four eggs at a time and is provided with a simple means for removing the eggs when done.

A combined medicine dropper and atomizer is the result of the work of Edward G. Lewis of Los Angeles. Lewis' invention, covered by Patent No. 2,115,959, contains an inner tube which permits the dropper's use as an atomizer when the bulb is depressed.

Fred M. Waite of Saranac, N. Y., was awarded Patent No. 2,116,088 for a hair-cutting attachment which attaches onto a comb. Run the comb through the hair, press a suitable control, and one's hair is cut.

Bottle-bibbing beer drinkers who make a point of absorbing their brew straight from the bottle like men receive a bit of a setback in the form of a bottle-holder and handle patented (No. 2,116,148) by Clinton K. Hawley of McPherson, Kans.

A method of making rubber thread and a machine for making it were the subjects of a patent (No. 2,116,222) taken out by William M. Spencer of Trenton, N. J. "Shashlik," the Levantine dish, sliced meat roasted on a skewer, that goes under a wide variety of names, can now be made in "streamlined" fashion, a patent granted to Holman Harvey of New York City, reveals. Patent No. 2,116,310 describes a wood stick containing holes for flavoring matter, on which the meat is impaled.

A changeable waxed paper ring that fits over the edge of a glass to provide a sanitary drinking cup is covered by Patent No. 2,116,418, granted to Willard W. Smithson of Norfolk, Va.

Sun glasses that carry advertising matter were patented (No. 2,116,411) by Stanley J. Philipson of Forest Hill, N. Y. Mr. Philipson's sun glasses consist really of Don't get too enthusiastic about the benefits of the sun's rays, those first few days at the beach, and send your child out to play in scanty attire. His skin burns easily, and he's likely to acquire all sorts of complications even from mild burns, as above left. It's the wrong way. Better for him to wear a light-weight shirt, to protect back and shoulders, at least during the intense noonday heat. He can get his sunburn in gradual stages as shown (right) above.

Farm Bureau Meet

More Eggs Per Hen
Sought By College
With Air Cooling

The California College of Agriculture at Davis will try to get more eggs per hen this summer by installing an air cooling system in the laying houses.

The experiment to determine whether lowered temperature causes higher production is being planned by V. S. Asmundson, assistant professor of poultry husbandry, and J. R. Tavernetti, assistant agricultural engineer.

An evaporation cooler with an electric fan will send fresh, cool air into the poultry house. Asmundson and Tavernetti want to find out particularly if it increases egg-laying efficiency, and if so, is it profitable to go to the expense of making the hens comfortable.

MERRIAM SETS
GOOD WILL DAY

Governor Frank F. Merriam makes a plea for promotion of international good will in California as "a constructive force in human affairs."

He has issued a proclamation designating May as "World Good Will Month" and May 18 as "World Good Will Day" in commemoration of the 39th anniversary of the first international conference for world peace at The Hague.

Urging statewide exercises, the governor said:

"Inasmuch as peace and good will among the nations should be the normal status of human relations, it is fitting that we cooperate with the various organizations whose aims and objectives are directed toward the achievement and consummation of this worthy ideal."

Nightball Comedy Act Features First Round

If you like comedy with your nightball, there was plenty of it in the National league openers. Most comical, of course, were the scores (13-1, 13-4 and 12-2), the only real game being Anaheim's 4-2 win at Irvine. The other comedy was provided by Joe Rodgers of Huntington Beach, Rosy Gilhousen of San Bernardino, Ray (Doc) Smith of Santa Ana. There were others, but this trio stood out as follows:

Paul Wright

The "heat" was off at Huntington Beach. The Oiler had a comfortable lead, and were not bearing down as they can bear down. A hot grounder shot through Manager Rodgers' legs, and an obvious error was chalked up. But with in 60 seconds Joe had the crowd in hysterics with three simple maneuvers: (1) he violently threw down his glove; (2) he violently threw down his cap, and (3) he withdrew a two-foot red bandana, tossed it to the ground. The fans had forgotten about the error after they were through laughing.

Later in the same game, Gilhousen, one of the most temperamental players in the night league, questioned the third strike called on him, and in an outburst that only Gilhousen can create, hurled his bat to the plate, breaking it (the bat) into two pieces.

Inside the Municipal bowl, on the same night, the fans were howling loudly at what they considered poor officiating, and Manager "Doc" Smith, believing his Stars were "robbed," rushed out on the field, removed his glasses and put them to the face of one of the umpires.

Chinese Philosophers Could Form Fine Club

Some big-shot sports promoter should capitalize on this little idea, evolved by some newspaper guys between dead-lines. Organize a professional team, call it "The Chinese Philosophers" and tack the following fictitious names on 'em: Wolin Toin, pitcher; Bu Hu, catcher; Oh Woe, first base; So Long, second base; Go Tu, short stop; Fu He, third base; I Go Nao, left field; Goom Bye, centerfield; and Oh Po, rightfield.

WARD'S VS. SANTA MONICA City League Openers Slated

Co-Managers Gene Hitt and Walt Jordan send their Montgomery Ward defending champions of the Santa Ana City league into action tonight against Santa Monica, a team that has won 22 straight games.

The practice feud will be played inside the Municipal bowl, Sixth and Flower streets at 8 o'clock. There will be no admission charge. Manager Hitt said he would start the following lineup: Warren (Whitey) Mann, rf; Jim Wendorf, ss; Maurice Young, 3b; Rod Smiley, cf; Roy Warrecker, rf; Harvey Hemm, 2b; Erwin York, 1b; Louie Collins, c; Walt Jordan or Ed Bristow, pitcher. ### New Entry Big Threat In City Softball Race

Alliance Mutual Insurance company does not plan to take a back seat in this, its first season in the Santa Ana City Softball league.

A raft of experienced talent has been secured, and their lineup will look something like this on opening night at the Municipal bowl Monday:

Everett Winkler and Wilmer Swafford, pitchers; "Young" Winkler, catcher; Earl Halderman, 1b; Nathan Levens, 2b; Alex Clark, 3b; Clarence (Pat) Patmor, ss; Lloyd Kneeland, lf; Jim McCain, cf; and Roger Dominguez, rf.

Reaching Deep Down Into Sports Barrel

I didn't know until today that Promoter M. J. (Bud) Levin, congenial promoter at the Orange County Athletic club who neither drinks nor smokes, appeared in 2500 wrestling bouts during his professional career, broke 22 bones in his body and met his toughest opposition in Dick Shikat, who won before a $42,000 house at Madison Square Garden, New York, in 1931.

Bill Henry, sports editor, and co-workers, Braven Dyer and Paul Lowry of the Los Angeles Times, are the sons of ministers. One of the best sports cartoonists in Southern California is Santa Ana's own Armand Hanson, bespectacled southpaw who rates right behind Stan Jacobsmeier on the Stars' night-ball pitching staff.

Dave Webb of Santa Ana, night-ball veteran, who pastimes for Billy (Angel) Feistner in the Long Beach City league, does not plan to remain an oil-field worker, hopes to return in a few years to sports-writing, his first love. Leonard (Frankie) Lockhart, Santa Ana lightweight, who will serve as O. C. A. C matchmaker for boxing, believes the fights will really click here beginning Monday. He is more than pleased with the amateur fistfuffers he has lined up, claims they are as easy to handle as the paid-to-punch lads. About the only things consistently good out there during the last "fights" a few months ago were the peanuts, popcorn, lighting system and arrangement of seats.

ton Corniel will be first utility man, and Hitt also will be available for service at first base or in the outfield.

Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison, president of the league, today announced next week's opening games, as follows: Monday night—7 o'clock, M. E. South vs. Alliance Mutual Insurance company; 9 o'clock, Montgomery Ward's vs. Santa Ana Elks; Thursday night—7 o'clock, Alliance Mutual vs. Elks; 9 o'clock, Ward's vs. Treeswite Products. Franklin Guthrie of The Journal sports staff will serve as official scorer.

TIGERS SNAP SENATORS' WIN STREAK

Bob (Lefty) Grove Scores Again for Boston's Red Sox

By SID FEDER Associated Press Sports Editor
Meet the icicle, folks. He not only has the temperament, he even looks like one, this Cliff Melton, the Giants' sophomore southpaw, who's standing National league batters on their ears and giving old-man second-year jinx one of the classiest goings-over that gentleman ever has suffered.

He's built on the general proportions of a beanpole, is Melton, stretching about six feet six straight up from his size 12's, and his most distinguishable features are a pair of out-sized ears, but man, can he pitch!

Nothing riles him. Not even as nifty a reeler as "Boiling Boily" Grimes, whose leg was broken in a game, disturbs Melton. In fact, it's doubtful if Cliff—the boys have tagged him Mickey Mouse and Mountain Music and Stringbean—even realizes they're trying to rib him.

As a result, Cliff today is big league baseball's No. 1 elbow of the year in the matter of games won and lost, with an unbeaten run of six straight showing that a second-year man doesn't necessarily have to go to the dogs, as is the general belief. He's one of the chief reasons Bill Terry's terrific terriers are making somewhat of an early season runaway of the National league race, what with the Chicago Cubs showing signs of coming apart at the seams.

And, with the Yankees in first place in the American league pennant parade as the result of their 4-1 win over Cleveland's collapsible Indians yesterday, the whole situation looks like things are on the way toward the third straight championship monopoly for little old New York, despite the fact the calendar shows only May 12.

It took a lot of pitching to whip the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday, but Melton had it and the Giants won out 5-3 for their fifth in a row. Cliff was given a hot fight by Lefty Bob Weiland, but he kept breezing 'em in without lifting an eyebrow, and finally his mates shoved two runs across in the ninth to put the game on ice and drop the Gas-House Gang into seventh place.

The Yankees, meantime, climaxed their long uphill climb with their seventh straight win, on the strength of their extra-base power and a fine nine-inning pitching effort by young Spud Chandler. Tomorrow, Henrich and Red Rolfe whacked homers in the Yanks' 10-hit attack that was good for 19 bases.

Since the Washington Senators were having their seven-game streak ruined, 4-1, by Vernon Kennedy and the rest of the Detroit Tigers, the Yanks' record themselves out in front by a few percentage points, and the Nats dropped to second.

Lefty Grove made it five in a row and tossed the Boston Red Sox to a 4-2 decision over Jimmy Dykes' limping White Sox, thereby boosting Tom Yawkey's gold-plated millionaires into a third-place deadlock with Cleveland.

BOWLING

LOS ANGELES.—(P)—With an unblemished record of four straight wins, Southpaw Bill Walker of Sacramento led Pacific coast league hurlers in games won through last Tuesday, but the strikeout king of the circuit was Gene Lillard of Los Angeles.

Lillard struck out 23 batters in the last two games to win his mark for the season to 50. He has won five and lost two.

BROTHERS VIE IN 500-MILE RACE CLASSIC

INDIANAPOLIS.—(P)—Brother will be pitted against brother when the 500-mile Memorial day automobile race is run here May 30.

Driving a new car which he built himself will be Lou Meyer of Huntington Park, the only three-time winner of the Indianapolis event. Heading a pit crew in charge of a car which he rebuilt from the wheels up will be Harry Meyer, 22-year-old brother of Lou's. Tony Gullotta of Detroit will be the driver of Harry's car.

And to make the situation even more complicated, the Gullotta car is the same one which Lou Meyer drove to victory in 1936 and in which Ralph Hepburn of Los Angeles finished second last year.

Last year Harry Meyer made his first appearance at the Indianapolis track. For about 300 miles he rode with Brother Louis as mechanic.

At all-conference match with the other Eastern division golfers was scheduled for this afternoon at Pomona Jaycee.

The Dons defeated Santa Ana High school in partner low-ball six-point match this week, 8-7, at Santa Ana Country club. Morris (Chuck) Shields defeated Roberts and Palmer of the Saints, 5-1. George Young and Royal Donnen of the Dons and Doug May and Buck Bemis of the Saints drew, 3-3. Red Quintana defeated Bob Bradley, 3-0.

Kerley and Shields had a best ball of 73, the former shooing a 79 and the latter a 75 on the local course.

Lionettes Battle Balian Tonight; Slate Home Tilt

Knocked over by Columbia Pictures Tuesday night, the Lionettes will be out for revenge over the cellar occupants, Balian Ice Cream, at Fielder's Fairfax field tonight.

Helen Wills Moody Reaches 5th Round
LONDON.—(P)—Disposing of Miss H. Jarvis, 6-0, 6-1, Helen Wills Moody today reached the fifth round of the North London tennis tournament. It was the fourth match Mrs. Moody had won with the loss of only one game.

Three years ago—Fred Jacoby, North Bergen, N. J., won Albany, N. Y. outdoor race, U. S. Davis cup team swept first round series with China at Mexico City.

TURF CRITICS TAB DAUBER IN PREAKNESS

Can't Wait Ranked Second in 47th Baltimore Running

By ORLO ROBERTSON BALTIMORE.—(P)—Minus the Kentucky Derby winner and the future book favorite, the Preakness will be renewed for the 47th time Saturday with nine horses, one a filly, slated to battle over Pimlico's historic mile and three-sixteenths for the turf's richest three-year-old prize.

The classic, second of America's spring specials composing the "triple crown," was dealt two blows last week when Stagehand, the favorite, came down with a fever at Churchill Downs and Lawrin, not a Preakness eligible, won the derby. Then this week W. S. Kilmer's promising Neday and Lucky Omen contacted the coughing epidemic that has been sweeping the Preakness since this spring.

PREPARE FOR 45,000 But the name "Preakness" is all that is needed to draw the fans here and if the weather continues fair, General Manager Matt Daiger fully expects 45,000 people, one of the largest crowds since Survivor won the first running in 1873.

With the derby winner absent, the Preakness will be something of a consolation but it'll be a rich one. If nine face the barrier at about 2:30 p. m., (Pacific standard time) the race will gross close to $70,000 with all except $17,000 going to the winner.

On his second to Lawrin in the Derby, William Dupont, jr.'s, Dauber figures to be the favorite with Myron Seitznick's diminutive Can't Wait, third in the Derby, the second choice. The only thing against Dauber is the distance of a mile and three-sixteenths. The odds of Pimlico is strictly a stretch runner and Pimlico's stretch is only three-sixteenths of a mile.

The long straightaways and sharp turns should be to the liking of Hal Price Headley's Menow, fourth in the Derby after setting the pace for more than a mile.

EXPERIENCE COUNTS Although William Woodward's Fighting Fox and Warren Wright's Bull Lea, the first two choices in the Derby, lost many supporters by their dismal showing at the Preakness, their trainers are still confident they'll run back to early spring efforts.

STANFORD TO NAME LEE CAGE COACH

PALO ALTO.—(P)—A varsity basketball coach to replace John Bunn, now dean of men, likely will be selected at the next meeting of the Stanford University board of athletic control June 8.

The appointment was deferred from last night's meeting, at which several members of the 1938 Stanford squad urged selection of their teammate, Horace B. Lee, for the position, with Jack Calderwood and Art Stoen, other squad members, as his assistants.

Bill Hubbard, coach at San Jose State college, and Everett Dean, Indiana university mentor, were invited to interview the board regarding the position.

PADRES LEAD BY 1 GAME

While four teams tied for the runner-up spot threatened their leadership, the San Diego Padres held a one-game lead in the Pacific Coast Baseball league today despite a 5-to-1 shelling by the Hollywood Stars.

Bunched behind the Padres were the Stars, who scored four runs in the eighth inning on two hits, an error, hit batter and two walks to beat them yesterday; Portland, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Portland defeated the Angels, 3 to 2, when Pitcher Dutch Leiber forced a Portland run across the plate in the seventh by walking a batter with the bases loaded. While their manager, Bill Killefer, maintained in a Sacramento hospital with doctors wondering what ailed him, the floundering Sacramento Solons lost their second straight to the San Francisco Seals, 9 to 3.

Coach Joe Kogler employed a reserve Sam Barnes, c; Adams, 1b; Cazaras, 2b; Heinie, ss; Yarbrough, 3b; Fitzpatrick, lf; Lindroff, cf, and Castro, rf; with Hull, Orosco, pitchers; Preston, 3b, in substitute roles.

SPORTS Roundup

NEW YORK.—(P)—All that stuff about the new National league ball being "leader" is the boloney. Carl Hubbell says the new ball comes back at him so fast he hasn't a chance to duck. . . . Is it just possible those recent Statepost pieces authored by Messrs. Tom Meany and Waite Hoyt caused the N. L. moguls to do the well-known right-about-face? . . . Herbert Woolf, owner of Lawrin, who is supposed to have cleaned up $150,000 in the winter books, says it ain't so. . . . I was glad enough to collect that pot after the derby," he said. . . . did you pipe Joe Louis' new moustache? . . . Hot ziggy!

The Yankee stadium has the Cleveland Indians jinxed for fair. The Redskins have won only two of their last 23 starts in the "House That Ruth Built" . . . One correspondent wired his paper from the West: "The Dodgers are just one big, unhappy family" . . . Leo Durocher and Bill Foster, the pitcher, were the latest to square off. Old Blimp Phelps wedged himself between them, took a toothed, and there was no fight that day.

EIGHT BATTLE IN 101 RING AT SAME TIME

Berry, Morelli, the Dragon and Carter Among Headliners

By MATT BURNS
Orange county fans will see eight of the roughest, toughest wrestlers on the Pacific coast in action tonight in the last "battle royal" to be permitted. This thrilling spectacle will be staged at the Orange County Athletic club, Highway 101, as the prelude to the regular four-bout card.

All eight grapplers taking part in the battle royal will return for the regular card in the order in which they were defeated in the free-for-all, with the last two men in the ring drawing top spot in the main event. All eight wrestlers will open the unique event.

Matmen in the battle royal and following matches include: "Wild Red" Berry of Kansas; Tony "Kill-er" Morelli, Italy; Josef Smallinski, Russia; Black Dragon, Oklahoma; Marshall Carter, Missouri; Jack Lipscomb, Indiana; Sgt. Bob Keniston, former United States marine, and Frank Clements, Florida.

Promoter "Bud" Levin presented the first battle royal on the Pacific coast more than a month ago and, by a coincidence, is presenting the last one in the same arena. The "royals" were banned by action of the state athletic commission early this week, but this one was allowed to "go on" because it had been booked prior to the ruling.

So Very Many Young Folks!

When you were born, everybody in the world was older than you. When you were one year old, there were 2,000,000 persons in the United States alone who were younger than you. When you reach the age of 25, half the people of the world are younger than you. And when you are 50, you are older than nine-tenths of your fellow beings.

This rather startling case for the importance of Youth is credited to Charles F. Kettering, General Motors executive. It is important to bear in mind, from many standpoints.

For instance, it is because we understand that half the people of Orange county are 25 or younger that The Journal devotes a heavy percentage of its space to features, types of news and other material that directly interests the youngsters. One out of every five persons in Santa Ana and vicinity is a boy or a girl between the ages of 8 and 18. Naturally, we want to appeal to them.

A heavy segment of every local tax dollar goes for purposes of education and the guidance of youth. Why shouldn't it?

The successful merchant knows and always remembers that among his real customers, and bulking large among the consumers of his merchandise, are these ever-advancing ranks of children, two and a half million of whom every year pass the 21-year milestone into the full rights of American citizenship.

The successful politician, too, must realize this fact. We oldsters are inclined to cling to what we are used to and favor the status quo. Progress comes in steady waves as the generations march on—and no force whatever can halt, or ever has halted, their advance.

License commissioner says Coney island needs a coat of red paint. And we had thought that visitors had been painting the town red for years.

Mothers and Football

Do mothers worry when their sons play high school football?

Rochester, N. Y., will answer that question to its own satisfaction next month when mothers there will vote on whether or not football, banned 29 years ago in Rochester schools, should be restored.

Undoubtedly, every parent worries when a youngster takes part in any athletics. But the odds against accidents in football have been greatly increased since Rochester banned the game. Then football was brutal, mass action. Today it is a game of running and skill and sportsmanship.

Furthermore, American schools have fine and careful supervision of sports. Youngsters will play, and without football in schools you'll find it played on sandlots, without supervision and with greatly increased chances of accidents.

If they make a survey of high school football, Rochester mothers are likely to allow this generation of their sons to enjoy the modern American game.

Rudy Vallee is accused of being a foe of the New Deal. Plenty of Democrats don't care for crooning either.

Are You Tall Enough?

Two years ago a shy, frightened little dwarf of 14, Eula Hebert, entered a New Orleans hospital. She weighed only 52 pounds, and was but 47 inches tall. Apparently she was doomed to be one of life's misfits, because of glandular disturbances.

Doctors began giving her daily dosages of glandular extracts to cure her thyro-pituitary difficulties.

Today, she's a normal, happy 16-year-old girl, one foot taller than she was two years ago. Equally important with her physical growth was a mental unfolding, a new confidence and personality born to her when she became of a size with other youngsters.

She is an example of how a new branch of science, just in its infancy, is going to save many individuals from going to the scrap heap by controlling their lives in the formative years.

In a few generations, if science holds true to its promise, no one will look around at others and wonder if he, or she, is tall enough. The physical well being of the race will be plotted out and controlled in the great laboratories of the world.

Have you heard the story of the Scotchman whose wife had twins because two can live more cheaply than one?

A Step or Two Forward

Pedestrians of Manchester, England, have formed an association for their own protection. And why not?

Details are lacking at this writing, but it may be supposed that the associated pedestrians will demand a closed season, more humane weapons, prohibition of wholesale bagging, wild life preserves and other modern conveniences that now are accorded to the lesser game animals and birds in most countries.

Auto clubs everywhere probably will watch the development with interest and perhaps some alarm, for restrictions on driving are becoming more acute.

It is assumed that the associating pedestrians will elect a supply of vice presidents sufficient to last a year, no matter how heavy the traffic gets.

A pessimist is a man who sees only the ruction in reconstruction.

Nation's Capitol

By RAYMOND CLAPPER

WASHINGTON. — There's a good deal of subrosa excitement around here about derogatory reflections which some justices of the supreme court are supposed to have made upon the judicial competency of their frequently dissenting colleague, Hugo Black. These aspirations upon Justice Black's ability as a craftsman in the law, frankly attributed to his associates on the supreme court, and bearing strong evidence of authenticity, have just appeared in an article by Marquis Childs in Harper's magazine.

The article has created an inside stir because it is unheard of that members of the supreme court, the brethren, should contribute to publicly branding one of their number as an inferior legal workman. That isn't cricket in any profession. In politics they call it smearing. I don't know what you call it in a case like this. The supreme court doesn't have a name for it. In the past the court has gone to great pains to cover up for lazy or slow-moving justices.

IT ISN'T DENIED

I have inquired directly of several of the supreme court as to the accuracy of the reflections upon Justice Black's ability and in no case has anyone dissented or offered one word in defense of Black's defense, even privately. From these conversations and from the internal evidence in the article itself, I have no doubt in my own mind that the essential material which reflects upon Justice Black came from within the court itself.

Some of the brethren seem entirely satisfied with the article, as one might infer from the mutual chuckles over it between Justice McReynolds and S. J. Brand, former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, as they sat together at dinner the other night. Not that McReynolds is suspected of having inspired the article—it contains a sideswipe at him for messing up the maritime law.

The author of the article, a well-known and high reputable Washington correspondent, states that he speaks "authoritatively" and proceeds to report that Black's conduct on the bench has been the subject of the worst in Justice Black's opinion of his colleagues, both liberal and conservative justices, "acute discomfort and embarrassment" because of "a lack of legal knowledge and experience, deficiencies of background and training that have led him into blunders which have shocked his colleagues on the highest court."

Inasmuch as most of the supreme court's cases concern intricate points of law, craftsmanship is of the utmost importance.

"It is precisely here that Justice Black, in the opinion of his colleagues, has failed," Author Childs reports. "He has been unable to carry his share of the heavy burden that falls on the court, nor do his fellow-justices, or most of them, foresee that he will be able to carry it within any measurable time."

Furthermore—and this obviously could not come from anyone except a justice on the court—"several opinions he (Black) has written have been rephrased by other members of the court, and they have been subsequently released with something less than satisfaction."

INDISCREET "ACCIDENT"?

These are the statements which, when called to the attention of several members of the court, failed to evoke the slightest expression of regret or a word of any kind in defense of Brother Black, although one member of the court did dispute the accuracy of an incidental statement in the article which had nothing to do with Black.

One member of the court, denying he had any connection with the article, suggested that sometimes indiscreet remarks are dropped and given circulation. There are two kinds of indiscretions in Washington. Some are accidental. Some are intentional.

When he was appointed, Mr. Justice Black thought he got a raw deal from the newspapers. Brother, that was just a mild initiation. Now you are being worked on by experts!

TVA To Manufacture

Richest Fertilizer

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. — (Science Service) — A synthetic fertilizer, carrying a higher concentration of available phosphorus (65 percent) than any other fertilizer, will be produced on a scale of 50,000 tons a year by the Tennessee Valley authority, it is announced at the session of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers here.

Dr. Harry A. Curtis, chief chemical engineer of TVA, described how the concentrated fertilizer, known as calcium metaphosphate, means a substantial saving for the farmer.

While its cost at the point of manufacture is higher, Dr. Curtis indicated, the important and often overlooked point is that the cost of the fertilizer on the farm—per ton of phosphorus pentoxide available for plant use—is less due to lower freight charges.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON. — The inside story of the fierce internal New Deal battle over the Spanish embargo is leaking out only piecemeal, but history probably will show that it is one of the most important foreign policy battles in recent years.

Here is one important chapter which can now be told. Last week — May 3 — to be exact — after Senator Pittman communicated the text of the Nye resolution to the state department, Secretary Hull called together his advisers.

The Nye resolution calls for the lifting of the Spanish embargo, and Mr. Hull asked for advice on it. Present were Sumner Welles, astute under secretary, Judge Walton Moore, charming, backwoods counselor, Green Hackworth, routine-minded legal chief expert, Jimmy Dunn, wealthy pro-Franco political adviser, and Adolf Berle, original member of the Brain Trust.

Mr. Hull sat at his desk, tapping his teeth with his pince-nez, while he asked each adviser in turn what he thought of the Spanish embargo situation. Hull said almost nothing, listened intently.

Result of this conference, plus some subsequent discussions, was that the state department should give its OK to the Nye resolution, with two modifications:

1. The lifting of the embargo should apply to both sides in Spain.

2. Some discretion should be left to the executive regarding administration of the embargo.

Green Signal

This conclusion was communicated to Senator Pittman, by Judge Moore, on May 4, and was considered perfectly acceptable by him. Senator Pittman also was told that a letter of approval would be sent to the committee within 24 to 36 hours. Pittman, in turn, told members of his committee that he would call a special session as soon as he received Secretary Hull's letter.

Based on these developments, the New York Times published an important and, at that time, completely accurate story.

But then occurred an abrupt and sudden hitch. The president, fishing in the Caribbean, put out his hand and said, in effect, "Stop." He did not give an unequivocal "No." What he said was to wait until he came back and they all would talk the matter over. But he was definitely cooler than the state department.

Meanwhile, it has leaked out that the president has been receiving some urgent messages from prominent Catholic friends.

How heavily these Catholic protests weighed with the president is not known, but they were important at least to the extent of holding up his state department's readiness to help lift the embargo.

Meanwhile, Catholic pressure against lifting the Spanish embargo has intensified on Capitol Hill and, unfortunately, religious prejudice such as seen at no time since the Al Smith campaign is starting.

Many senators, caught between two religious fires are worried, among them Senator McGill of Kansas, a strong Roosevelt supporter, who says he will urge the president to lift the embargo himself without precipitating a Catholic-Protestant feud in congress.

Note—Joseph Patrick Kennedy, United States ambassador to Great Britain, has taken a stand against lifting the embargo, although it is not known whether for religious reasons or because of a desire to support the Chamberlain government.

New Battleground

You can write it down now that the wage-hour bill is a sure-shot bet to pass the house. The combination of the A. F. of L. and C. I. O. joining hands, plus heebie-jeebies suffered by Old Guarders as a result of Senator Pepper's Florida victory, has put the bill definitely in the house legislative bag. But that doesn't mean it is on the statute books yet. Far from it.

Plenty of battling is still ahead. With the ground cut under them in the house, opposition strategists have quietly shifted their fight to the senate and there the fate of the issue will be decided.

Under the driving leadership of former Senator Hugo Black, the senate adopted a wage-hour bill last spring. This measure differed radically from the one now pending before the house. That means that when the house passes its bill it will have to go to the senate, where the anti's are planning to get in their tricks.

Playing on the strong urge of members to get home and start patching up their election fences, the anti's will launch a determined filibuster against the house bill. They figure that rather than endure a protracted battle, the boys will cry quits and allow the bill to be shelved.

The logic of this strategy is good—except for one thing. It works the other way around just as well. While the anti's are filibustering against the bill in the senate, there is nothing to prevent its backers from filibustering against adjournment in the house.

The wage-hour adherents are aware of the opposition's plans to fight fire with fire. They have notified house leaders that there will be no adjournment of congress until a wage-hour bill has been enacted.

In a tug-of-war of this kind the advantage would be with the house — especially if the president threw his weight on its side.

But the outcome is by no means certain. If the anti's are prepared to go to any lengths, they may stalemate the bill indefinitely. It all depends on how far they are prepared to go.

TAXES IN HAWAII

To the Editor: In the Townsend Weekly of April 25, 1938 comes a story by Otis J. Bouma that the governor of Hawaii had said that the territory has a transaction tax.

In a letter written to the General Welfare association of America, by William Borthwick, Jan. 28, 1938, he gives the history of the agitation which finally resulted in the enactment of the gross income tax, the rate as follows:

Producing, wholesaling and certain manufacturing ..... 1 1/2%
Printing and publishing only ..... 1%
Professional services ..... 1 1/2%
Retailing, sugar processing, pineapple canning and all other forms of gross income ..... 1 1/4%

This last rate was flexible and could be lowered or raised by the governor as the need arose. The tax was designed to raise $5,108,600 biennially. Near the end of the first biennium the treasury was in receipt of $6,439,213.85, so the governor lowered the rate to 1 per cent.

This is the form of taxation adopted by the conference of those interested in pensions called by the General Welfare Steering Committee, which Dr. Townsend and the Weekly declared would destroy the Townsend plan advocated by them. Mr. Borthwick also stated that there was no trouble in collecting the tax and all opposition which was strong in the beginning has disappeared, because the budget has been balanced, taxes have been reduced and those best able have been obliged to bear their share of taxation.

Only one suit has been brought and that was to determine the status of dentists, CPAs, engineers, surveyors, architects. It was taken to the supreme court which decided they would come under professional services.

Mr. William Borthwick is the tax commissioner of Hawaii, so speaks with authority. The letter excerpts of which is quoted here may be found in the General Welfare Newsletter Magazine of Feb. 21, 1938.

Note that Dr. Townsend is quoted as saying that he has abandoned the $200 a month "my bill." So glad to note Dr. Townsend is following the lead of the conference committee's adoption of the amendments. Those two amendments were the principal ones which he fought most vigorously when they were adopted. The next thing he will adopt all of them we hope, but expect and fear he may claim credit for them as for so much other progress made towards the enactment of GWA into laws, the sole credit which should be given to the inde- fatigable efforts of the GWA steering committee, the floor leader, Harry R. Sheppard, and last, but not least, chairman of the GWA legislative committee Arthur L. Johnson. It would be interesting to learn how many congressmen, the Townsend legislative committee and Mr. Bouma have been instrumental in gaining support for the bill.

Pekin Man's Brain Similar To Ape's

NEW YORK. — (Science Service) — Casts made of the space once occupied by the brain, in the skulls of half-million-year-old Peking Man, show many remarkably apelike features, despite the indubitable fact that this Old Inhabitant was definitely human. Some of these features were described here by Dr. Franz Weidenreich, leader of excavation work in the Peking caves near Peiping, in the annual James Arthur lecture, at the American Museum of Natural History.

Although the total volume of Peking Man's skull space is definitely in the human range and far above that of apes, the distribution of the space is not in accordance with present-day specifications. Dr. Weidenreich disclosed. The arch of the cranium is very low, and the greatest breadth of the skull lies low and toward the rear. All of this minimizes the forebrain, usually considered to be the center of the higher, more intellectual part of the brain's activities.

WILLING TO EAT THEM

"One mo' word outa you, big boy, an' Ah'll mek you eat what you say," said one dark-skinned brawler to another.

And the other answered: "Ham-bones, poke-chops, an' watermelon, black boy. Les see you mek me eat dem."

I'LL TELL YOU.....

By BOB BURNS

They say travel broadens a person, but I believe if a man spends his life lookin' at a million towns, he won't be near as smart as a man that stays in one village and finds out what all goes on there.

One time when I went home on a visit, I saw a fella sittin' on a fence waitin' to see the train go by. I started to brag about the thousands of miles I had ridden on a train and the fella says, "Well, me and you have got a whole lot in common." He said, "I sit on the fence and watch the trains go by and you sit on the train and watch the fences go by."

Sixty-eight years ago today a boy was born on a truck farm near San Jose, Cal. The boy's father had come from Italy, and spoke English with difficulty.

The father got up every morning at four, hitched his horses to the wagon, took the garden stuff to San Jose and sold it as best he could.

The boy's name was Amadeo Peter Giannini.

When the boy was six his father died, and the boy and his mother had to work in the fields.

One day his mother went to the bank and tried to borrow money. The banker was not interested in the widow of a truck farmer, and kept her waiting. When finally he did let her into his big, splendid office, his manner was cool, and he got rid of her as soon as he could. No time to waste on small fry!

DEEP IMPRESSION

The cruelty of the banker made a deep impression on the boy.

The family had to live, and at 13 the boy left school to go to work. Except for a short course in a business college he never went to school again.

The boy grimly made up his mind that he would be a banker himself some day, with a resplendent office and a roll-top desk, but the best he could do now was to get a small job in a savings and loan society. However, it was a step in the right direction. He studied hard, talked banks and banking day and night and at 24 he was a director!

At 33 he founded the Bank of Italy and became its first president. Later its name was changed. It is now the Bank of America.

He laid down one firm rule: treat the public with consideration. "I want the common people to feel free and easy in my bank," he said, "and to get an interview with anyone here with out any palaver."

BANK THRIVES

Instead of hiding himself away in a big room, he put his desk out front where anybody with a just errand could come straight to him with it. And above all he paid attention to the humble people, especially to truck farmers. Almost instantly his bank began to thrive!

Pretty soon he added a branch, and gave orders that the manager was to do exactly as he manager did—put his chair in front and see the people and hear their stories. The branch bank succeeded!

Well, this son of a truck farmer has 480 banks under his control, figure in private life in America today.

He still scorns pomp and pomposity. Anybody can see him. He greets all with a warm smile and says, briefly but business-like, "If there anything I can do for you?"

When he hears a man's story he gives him his answer on the spot. In 10 minutes, sometimes five, the man is on his way out, his business settled.

Quite different from the way the snobbish banker treated the widow of the truck farmer!
